Athens, Tenn., Jan. 27, 1901.
Ever since the first appearance of my menses they were very irregular and I suffered with great pain in my hips, back, stomach and legs, with terrible bearing down pains in the abdomen. During the past month I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and I passed the monthly period without pain for the first time in years. NANNIE DAVIS.

What is life worth to a woman suffering like Nannie Davis suffered? Yet there are women in thousands of homes to-day who are bearing those terrible menstrual pains in silence. If you are one of these we want to say that this same

A COUNTRY DOCTOR

The provincial young man has never possessed any attractions for me, and it is certain that if I had not gone up north to stay with Daisy Drysdale I should never have known so well such a striking specimen of the type as Dr. Wedmore. He was a stoutish young man of thirty-two, with nondescript features and a slow, portentous manner. He had a large and increasing practice in the suburb of Northaw, where his medical skill was in constant request among the spinsters and widows of that somewhat damp and chilly neighborhood. So highly esteemed were his services in the sickroom that these ladies would send for him at all hours of the day or night until the good doctor in self defense took to sending his red haired assistant to some of his more flagrant malades imaginaires.

Daisy Drysdale's husband was a manufacturer in Mudchester, and, like other manufacturers, he lived as far away from the factory chimneys of that thriving city as possible. So his brand new red brick mansion lay on the other side of the suburb of Northaw, and the society of Northaw supplied nearly all Mrs. Drysdale's intellectual recreation. Poor Daisy! How she missed the city! She had a genius for giving little dinners, but of what use was that, seeing the component elements of which her parties were to be henceforth composed? Still she was not to be baffled, and Mrs. Drysdale constantly entertained. The night after I arrived one of these dinners was given in my honor, and I was sent down to the dining room with Dr. Wedmore.

I shall not easily forget that night. Accustomed to the manifestly insincere gushings of London young men, I was astonished at the naive manner in which this country Æsculapius tried in vain to hide his sudden admiration. It came out in every word and look. It was a case of "love at first sight" on the part of Dr. Wedmore. Before I left the dinner table he had offered to lend me a horse, proposed that he should drive me to a meet ten miles off and expressed a wish that I should know his three sisters.

But the next time I saw him my head was tied up in a flannel shawl and my throat was so swollen I could hardly speak. The doctor had been called in professionally. The climate of Mudchester had been too much for me, and I was down with a malignant sore throat.

The doctor came every day, and once he came twice, to work a patent inhaler and paint my throat with some mysterious compound. He constantly changed the treatment. It was as if he could never do enough. He even used to bring me flowers—and who ever heard of a doctor taking his patient flowers? Daisy was convulsed with amusement. She said that when she was ill she sometimes used to have to send for Dr. Wedmore two or three times before he appeared, he was so busy.

At the end of a week I was better, and in ten days I was quite well. I really felt very grateful, for I knew that the doctor had saved me by his constant care from a dangerous illness. I wonder if he took my gratitude for--something stronger? Anyway, as I told Christina when she scolded me for the whole affair, it was not my fault. I hadn't fallen in love with Dr. Wedmore; that's all.

The thing came quickly to a crisis. We were all invited to spend an evening at the doctor's house. In the north they have a mysterious meal called "high tea," which is apparently a source of no little comfort and even of self righteousness. It enables the partakers thereof to allude witheringly to the habit of "late dinners" indulged in by the inhabitants of the south. And so, if you are invited out in Northaw, be sure you will be regaled on tea and cold chicken (fearful mixture), on hot cakes, jam, marmalade and currant buns. To this evening meal, then, we were bidden by Dr. Wedmore.

He lived alone with his sisters, who were curiously like him. They were all stoutish, with nondescript features and had slow and somewhat pompous manners. To see all four of them together inclined one to indecent mirth. It was impossible to be more worthy, more dull and more self satisfied. The Misses Wedmore were considered to have a pretty taste for art; they painted everything within reach with sprawling red roses or startling white daisies, and the doctor was of opinion that his sisters' artistic talent was of the first order. Miss Ada, too, sang songs by Pinsuti and Milton Wellings. The doctor liked Miss Ada's vocal efforts. While Miss Emily was literary, she assiduously read Miss Edna Lyall and Rider Haggard, and of these authors we discoursed solemnly until "tea" was announced.

The air was full of ominous portents. The doctor's manner, when he invited me for the second time to partake of cold chicken or pressed upon me with northern hospitality the currant cake, was full of certain protecting pride, while a humbly conquering expression was in his eyes when they rested upon me. It was with "intention," as the French say, that he showed me the photograph album, full of aunts and cousins, after tea, and the good doctor looked quite sentimental when later on Miss Ada warbled a romance, with a waltz accompaniment, entitled "The Love That Will Never Fade." I began to feel cold all down my back.

Five times did I get up, cross the room, engage either of the solemn Misses Wedmore in feverish conversation—I always ended by finding the doctor at my elbow. At last I resigned myself to my fate and sat down to talk to him. I imagined that the state of drains in the suburbs of Northaw would be a safe subject and one unlikely to lead to a declaration of a tender nature, but in this, it appeared, I was mistaken. We got on to the subject of fevers, and to convince me on a certain point the doctor suggested a reference to one of the medical books in his surgery. Once inside the little room, which lay just across the passage, Dr. Wedmore shut the door and advanced toward me with that particular expression which is so intolerable in a young man one doesn't care for.

I put on my most indifferent manner and inspected with much interest the rows of medical books in their glass cases.

"So kind of you," I said hurriedly to fill up the dreadful pause, "to take so much trouble. Most doctors only laugh at one if one wants to know any real fact—about your dreadful trade," I added, with flippancy, seeing that the man was not listening to a word I was saying, but was gazing at me as the snake is popularly supposed to regard the sparrow.

"Trouble," he said at last. "How can anything be a trouble that is done for you? I wish you would let me tell you how much I—how much I"—

A sharp rap at the door interrupted this speech. A servant came in.

"Please, sir, Mr. Brown is very bad, and Mrs. Brown says will you come at once and bring some of the drops, and she hopes you won't be long."

"A three mile drive," said Dr. Wedmore, with a sigh, "and I shall not see you again tonight." He took my hand and held it fast.

"I will bring the book tomorrow morning," he said. "Shall I have a chance of seeing you alone? Try to be alone when I come." And, wrenching my hand violently, the doctor disappeared.

"Daisy," I said hurriedly in the carriage going home, "I am sorry to say, dear, I shall have to go home by the 10:15 tomorrow. I—I had a telegram just before we came out."

"You had a fiddlestick! What nonsense, Peggy! Why, you came to stay a month, and you've hardly been twelve days."

"Twelve days! Good heavens! Why, how has he"—

"Oh, it's that, is it? And so you don't like him? Well, I think you are silly. You might do much worse. How much better to marry some one like that than some of your flipperty city men! He's sensible, clever, a good fellow, well off and very fond of you"—

"The 10:15, please, Daisy."

And sure enough, by the 10:15 I went. As the fields flew before me on my rapid journey homeward the whole thing seemed like some nightmare from which I had just awoke. Great heavens! From what had I not escaped? A lifetime of high tea, suburban gossip and provincial self sufficiency, of rose bedecked door panels, the novels of Mr. Rider Haggard and "The Love That Will Never Fade."

I am very fond of Daisy Drysdale, but it will be a long time before I again trust myself to the seductions of that suburb of Mudchester.

Browning's Courtesy.

On one occasion Robert Browning's son had hired a room in a neighboring house in order to exhibit his pictures there, and during the temporary absence of the artist Mr. Browning was doing the honors to a room full of fashionable friends.

He was standing near the door when an unannounced visitor made her appearance, and of course he shook hands with her, greeting her as he had the other arrivals.

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" she exclaimed. "But, please, sir, I'm the cook. Mr. Barrett asked me to come and see his pictures."

"And I am very glad to see you," returned Mr. Browning, with ready courtesy. "Take my arm, and I will show you round."

A Study of Eyes.

A story is told of the courtship of the late Sir George Airy, the famous astronomer. By reason of his timidity he seemed doomed to be a bachelor for life. But fortune favored him, and he drifted into matrimony in an unexpected way. An intimate friend remarked to him one day: "Have you ever observed Miss ——'s eyes? They have the property of double refraction." "Dear me, that is very odd!" he exclaimed. "I should like to see that. Do you think I might venture to call?" And call he did and begged permission to examine the young lady's eyes.

The novelty of the situation may have fascinated him. At any rate, he begged the privilege of a second look at the eyes in a clear light. The problem grew so interesting that he at length came to the conclusion to make it a life study. The boldness born of scientific curiosity enabled him ultimately to propose. He was accepted, and the strange courtship ended in a happy marriage.

A Wonderful Dress.

On the occasion of a garden party at Benares, given by the viceroy, a wonderful dress was worn by the Countess Palovolovetsch, which excited much admiration. Seen from near at hand the gown seemed to be made up of tongues of blue flame, with occasional streaks of bright light flashing across and all resting on a bed of liquid fire. Then the appearance would change, and its wearer seemed to be wrapped in multicolored flame. It was noticed that the countess never sat down, but was constantly on the move. During her peregrinations a friend asked her about her marvelous costume and discovered that it was a simple gown of rich brocade ornamented with fireflies. There were 535 of these little creatures, each in a tiny net, fastened to the dress.

Your Eye In a Mirror.

A very curious fact is the impossibility of moving your eye while examining the reflection of that organ in a mirror. It is really the most movable part of the face, yet if you hold your head fixed and try to move your eye while watching it you cannot do it even the one-thousandth of an inch. Of course if you look at the reflection of the nose or at any other part of the face your eye must move to see it. But the strange thing is that the moment you endeavor to perceive the motion the eye is fixed. This is one of the reasons why a person's expression as seen by himself in a glass is quite different from what it is when seen by others.

A Reminiscence of Wagner.

Dr. Mason, the well known musician, in his volume of reminiscences gives an interesting account of his visit to Richard Wagner. When he was leaving, the composer of "Der Ring des Nibelungen" handed him a theme written on a staff made by his own hand, bidding the young pianist, if he ever heard anything like that, to remember him. It afterward turned out that this theme was the familiar "dragon" motive from the "ring" dramas, but in the form in which it appears only in the second act of "Siegfried." At the time when the composer gave it to Dr. Mason the drama was yet unknown to the world.

Half and Half.

The dyspeptic may well be represented pictorially as being half masculine and half feminine, and combining the least desirable characteristics of either sex. He has all the stubbornness of the man with the peevish irritability of a sick woman. He's not pleasant company at home or abroad.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It renews physical health which carries with it cheerfulness of temper, and makes life a pleasure instead of a penance.

The "Discovery" purifies the blood by eliminating the corrupt and poisonous accumulations from which disease is bred. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, so increasing the supply of pure rich blood, which gives life to every organ of the body. It gives new life and new strength.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has performed a wonderful cure," writes Mr. M. H. House, of Charleston, Franklin Co., Ark. "I had the worst case of dyspepsia, the doctors say, that they ever saw. After trying seven doctors and everything I could hear of, with no benefit, I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and now I am cured."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic Asthma for the past 12 years. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After taking one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. OUR SPECIAL.

FROM the special edition we are about to issue we prophecy golden fruit. All the charms and resources of Sonoma Valley have been passed lightly over ere this, and as a result the home-seeker has gone elsewhere to invest his capital and establish his home and family. We have done nothing to make known to the outer world our attractions and resources. We have expended no energy along the line of giving information to the home-seeker. The only effort made to advertise this section has been made by the railway companies, who bring many thousands of transients here in the summer time. We seek permanent settlers, however—people who will bring the valley to the highest state of perfection and make use of the bounties Nature has given us.

All Sonoma Valley lacks to put it in line with the finest sections of the State is careful agriculture and improvement. We possess the raw material. What we need is some one to work and utilize it. The possibilities are here for labor and capital to develop.

The special edition of the INDEX-TRIBUNE is to make the possibilities known throughout the States. We are going to tell where Sonoma Valley is; what are its resources, its climate, development; what opportunities it offers for home-making.

The edition will be a handsome number, whose story will be told by pen and picture in as clear, concise and straightforward manner as possible. The fact of a paper so old and reliable as the INDEX-TRIBUNE giving information and data regarding this section will have great weight with those in search of a home in beautiful California.

Bird-Shot For Tiger.

No use to hunt tigers with bird-shot. It doesn't hurt the tiger any, and it's awfully risky for you.

Consumption is a tiger among diseases. It is stealthy—but once started it rapidly eats up the flesh and destroys the life. No use to go hunting it with ordinary food and medicine. That's only bird-shot. It still advances. Good heavy charges of Scott's Emulsion will stop the advance. The disease feels that.

Scott's Emulsion makes the body strong to resist. It soothes and toughens the lungs and sustains the strength until the disease wears itself out.

Church Lights and Social Leaders.

Every community, however small, has its group of energetic women, who lead and light the way in every local enterprise. If it is charity, a bazaar, a church fair, or any other benevolent undertaking, they work day and night to make it a success. They are not the women who neglect their homes to serve the public. They simply do double service. Many a husband knows what it is to bring his wife home from a fair or bazaar near the hour of midnight and see her drop, in sheer exhaustion, into the first chair she comes to. While the lights were bright and the talk and laughter were all about her, she didn't realize her own weariness. But once at home, exhaustion overcame her. If a woman were thoroughly robust, without ache or pain, she could not keep this work up without undermining her health. What shall be said then of those women, who are not strong, who suffer from headache, backache, bearing-down pains, and other consequences of a diseased condition of the womanly organism? And these women are in the great majority. There are few women who are free from diseases peculiar to their sex.

BURNING THE CANDLE AT BOTH ENDS.

That expressive saying not only suggests the most rapid form of waste but also the most foolish. When a woman overtaxes her strength in any cause, whether in the enjoyment of social pleasures, or in the service of church or charity, she is rapidly hastening to the end of her public activity.

The proof of this is found right at home. Young matrons who are not dancing any more, church workers who are no more active; these have not stepped aside because of loss of interest but because of lack of strength.

There is not a weak woman who would not like to be made strong again. There is not a sick woman who would not like to be made well. And there is not the least reason, in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred, why women should continue to be weak and sick. The first step to the re-establishment of the general health is to establish the local womanly health.

"I feel that it is only my duty to send you a statement of my case," writes Mrs. Mary E. Wilcox, of Emo (Rainy River), Algoma Co., Ont. "I suffered untold misery for many years with uterine trouble, until I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's good medicine and used the local treatment as advised. I took two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I also sent for one box of your 'Antiseptic and Healing Suppositories.' I have only used two and that was two months ago. Have not had to use any since, but I shall keep them in the house. I would advise every woman who suffers from ulceration of the uterus and piles to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the best medicine in the world. Also write to Dr. Pierce for his advice. I have felt better in the past seven months than I have for years. Every month I used to have to go to bed and have hot poultices and take laudanum to ease the pain. I don't go to bed now, nor do I take laudanum. Every spring I used to be troubled with piles, but I did not have any trouble of that kind this spring. I keep Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed in the house. It is a wonderful medicine."

THE WAY OF ESCAPE

from the diseases which afflict women, is marked by the footsteps of hundreds of thousands of women who have been raised to strength from weakness and from sickness to health, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes perfect regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It cures backache, headache, and the other painful consequence of womanly disease. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing sleep.

"I feel it my duty to send you this testimony," writes Mrs. Tillie Linney, of Gravel Switch, Marion Co., Ky. "I had been a sufferer from uterine trouble for twelve years, having doctored with the most skillful physicians but finding only temporary relief from medicines prescribed by them. I was advised by a friend to take 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did, and after taking six bottles I find that it has effected a complete cure."

"My niece was troubled with female weakness for about four years before I asked for your advice," writes Mr. J. W. McGregor, of 62d Street and Princeton Ave., Chicago, Ills. "You advised her to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription which she did faithfully for nine months, and now we must acknowledge to you that she is a well woman. We cannot thank you enough."

YOU CAN BE CURED

by "Favorite Prescription" if your disease is curable by medicine; and the facts show that only two women in every hundred who have given "Favorite Prescription" a fair and faithful trial have failed of a complete cure. Women who have suffered for years and have had the advantages of the most skillful medical treatment, have at last tried "Favorite Prescription" and been cured. Women who had been pronounced incurable, and given up to life-long suffering, have been perfectly and permantly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held in sacred secrecy and the written confidences of women are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed by Dr. Pierce in verbal consultation with sick women at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription" though the dealer says that it is "just as good." If he told the whole truth he'd say the substitute was better—not better for you but better for him, because of the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines.

ARE YOU 21?

Then at the expense of one-cent for each year of your life you can pay the expense of mailing a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers. This great medical work contains more than a thousand large pages and over 700 illustrations, and is sent absolutely free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or thirty-one stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BANKNOTE THREADS.

The Thing Counterfeiters Find Most Difficult to Imitate.

One of the officials connected with the secret service branch of the treasury department, recently discussing the methods of counterfeiters, stated that in spite of their great skill and industry they had never been able to make a bill which did not have one or more vulnerable spots. Perhaps the feature of good treasury notes which counterfeiters have found it most difficult to imitate is the two blue silk threads which run lengthwise through them.

"In the first place," he said, "the silk threads are put in the paper when it is made at the factory. To make paper of the kind used by the government requires a big plant and lots of capital, so counterfeiters are kept out of it. Even if they had the necessary money they wouldn't be fools enough to risk it all for the chance of making bogus bills. It would be exceedingly unprofitable for a paper manufacturer who already has a factory to make the paper, because to do so is a penitentiary offense."

The writer was then shown a two dollar bill which had a single thread running through its center. "This," continued the secret service man, "is the only bad bill that I ever saw with a silk thread in it. Even this has only one thread instead of two, so it would not be dangerous to a skilled teller. I have never heard of more than two other bills like this one. It is easy to see that the counterfeiter split this note, put in his thread and then pasted the two parts together again.

"The frayed edges show that. The fellow must have been very stupid not to know that genuine money has two threads instead of one. An expert can easily tell when a bill has been split in two and pasted together again, so the silk threads would not deceive him."—New York Herald.

Result of a Slight Scratch on the Hand.

Miss Nellie Gordenker is being treated in San Francisco for blood poisoning. While the young lady was engaged in sweeping out Union Hall on the occasion of the recent High School entertainment she slightly scratched her hand. In a short time the hand became badly inflamed and swollen and what was at first only a mere scratch developed into a very serious case of blood poisoning. So dangerous were the symptoms her physican advised that she go to San Francisco for treatment. At latest accounts Miss Gordenker's hand was on the mend.

COL. WILGUS' PERFIDY.

HIS WIFE INSTITUTES SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Col. Lorenzo D. Wilgus, who formerly lived here and recently convicted of forgery in the United States District Court and now serving out a one year's sentence in the Sacramento county jail for the crime, is the defendant in a suit for divorce, instituted in the Superior Court of this county by his wife, Mrs. Lola M. Wilgus, a most refined and estimable woman.

The suit is the outcome of a domestic denouement brought about by the trial of Col. Wilgus in San Francisco on the forgery charge several months ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilgus separated about ten years ago, owing to the husband being a confirmed drunkard. The wife left Sonoma for her girlhood's home in Philadelphia, and Col. Wilgus, after a prolonged debauch in San Francisco, drifted to Sacramento, where he married, or pretended to marry, another woman. Two children were the issue of this latter union.

When the INDEX-TRIBUNE published the details of Col. Wilgus' trial and conviction, his wife, who was still living in Pennsylvania, became cognizant of the erring husband's perfidy. It came as a great surprise to her that Col. Wilgus had a wife and two children living in Sacramento, and had been charitably sentenced by the Judge who tried him to the jail in that city that he might be near his new family.

Mrs. Wilgus had never divorced herself from the Colonel nor he from her so far as she knew.

As to whether or not there was a legal marriage performed between Col. Wilgus and his alleged Sacramento wife remains to be seen. If such be the case, however, Colonel Wilgus, in additian to the other offenses committed while under the influence of intoxicants, has also been guilty of bigamy.

Col. Wilgus was a brave and gallant Union soldier in the Civil War and a man of fine attainments, but his inordinate craving for liquor has led to the undoing of a man who would otherwise have been an ornament to society.

Mrs. Wilgus, upon learning of the so called Sacramento wife and children, recently left Pennsylvania for California to inquire further into the matter, hence the divorce proceedings, which will free her from a man entirely unworthy of so good a wife.

Mrs. Wilgus is now stopping with friends near here.

Lippitt & Lippitt of Petaluma are attorneys for Mrs. Wilgus.

TROUT FISHING.

It is Not What it Used to be in this Valley — Streams Should be Re-stocked.

Sonoma Valley trout streams ought to be restocked. There is no denying the fact that fishing is not what it used to be in Sonoma creek and its tributaries. Take, for instance, the Agua Caliente creek. A few years ago that stream was teeming with trout from its headwaters to Sonoma creek at this season of the year, and he was a poor fisherman indeed who could not catch from twenty-five to a hundred of the speckeled beauties in a day's fish in that delightful stream. To day he is a lucky fisherman if he succeeds in landing a dozen trout from the headwaters to the mouth of that stream. On Sunday last Harvey Perkins and John Wagnon, both of whom are crack fishermen and thoroughly familiar with every hole and riffle of the Agua Caliente, fished over two thirds of that stream and landed but two trout, where a few years ago they would have easily hooked a hundred. Ye editor fished over the same ground the following day and not even the sign of a trout was seen in the fine riffles and pools from the Norborm flat to the Appleton ranch, a trip which consumed five hours. The same ground was frequently fished over in April and May ten years ago and it was no uncommon thing for the INDEX-TTIBUNE scribe to kook a hundred trout varying in size from six to fourteen inches.

Agua Caliente creek is but a fair sample of the sixteen other small trout streams in this valley. That our trout streams need restocking does not admit of a doubt, and we trust those who have the authority to do so will transplant a few thousand trout in Sonoma creek, which supplies all the other streams in the valley with the finny tribe. That creek is always plentifully supplied with water and is capable of sustaining millions of young trout provided the dynamite fiend can be suppressed.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

Breitenbach, Pinelli and Poppe Elected Trustees.

Albertson for Marshal, Muldry for City Treasurer and Small for Clerk.

The election for municipal officers passed off in this town very quietly last Monday.

There were two sets of candidates in the field for City Trustees. One of these was composed of Messrs. Duhring, Harris and Bulotti, members of the old Board, who had been renominated by their friends.

The opposing ticket was composed of Geo. Breitenbach, J. E. Poppe and A. Pinelli. The nominees of the latter ticket made a vigorous campaign and all three won out by the following vote.

TRUSTEES:

Breitenbach	101
Harris	68
Majority	33
Poppe	81
Duhring	58
Majority	23
Pinelli	78
Bulotti	43
Majority	35

The vote for the other candidates was as follows:

TREASURER:

Muldrey	95
Clewe	52
Majority	43

CITY MARSHAL:

Albertson	82
Cornelius	67
Majority	15

CITY CLERK:

J. B. Small (no opposition) 125

Just what the policy of the new Board will be in regard to the projected new City Hall and the building fund now on hand, and the electric light service, has not as yet been made public. All kinds of rumors are afloat in regard to these public matters. It has been hinted that the new Board will dispense with a new City Hall and electric lights for the town. But this is only rumor and until the new Board meets it will not be definitely known how its members stand on those propositions.

The new Board will be inducted into offiee on the first Wednesday of next month, when it will no doubt outline its policy.

The defeat of the old Board for re-election is attributed to several causes, the principal one being inactivity on their part. However this may be, they were defeated, and the control of the city affairs has passed absolutely into the hands of their opponents.

A CIGAR CUTTER DID IT.

Tip of a Young Lady's Finger Severed.

Miss Gertie Lane of Glen Ellen met with a painful accident last Tuesday. While examining a cigar-cutter in Chas. WORTH $300,000,000.

The President of a certain big Oil Company is said to be worth $300,000,000. A tidy bit of money and no mistake. And yet he isn't happy. In an address to a Bible class he spoke of trials and troubles of the rich and the loads they have to carry. A young lady whispered to a friend that he might wear a Benson's Porous Plaster on his back or, better still, divide the money among the members of the class. I don't know why her idea about the plaster makes me want to laugh, but it does. All the same I have seen plenty of people laugh after putting Benson's Plasters on their backs or chests, or on any other spot where there was weight, heaviness, weakness or pain. It may be the sharp stabs of neuralgia, the aches and wrenches of rheumatism; it may be colds in muscles or bones; it may be those kidney or lumbago thrusts that make you yell as at a dog bite; or it may be a strain or cramp, anything that wants quieting and comforting. Dont bother with salves, liniments, lotions, etc., or with any of the stupid and useless old style plasters. Clap on a Benson's. It relieves at once and cures quickly. It stops the pain and makes you laugh for the very ease and good feeling of it. But watch out against imitations and substitutes. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

CHURCH WEDDING.

NUPTIALS OF MISS KISER AND MR. CUMMINGS.

A charming wedding will be solemnized at St. Francis' church Sunday morning by Rev. Father Leahy. The contracting parties are Miss Josephine Kiser and Will J. Cummings of Schellville. The young bride-to-be is the handsome daughter of Mrs. and the late Anton Kiser, the wealthy dairyman, and is a girl of winning manner and beautiful character. Mr. Cummings is the station agent of the California Northwestern railway at Schellville, and a most exemplary young man.

The ceremony which will make this popular couple man and wife will be a most impressive one. The church will be a snowy confusion of white lilacs and calla lilies and the choir will render some appropriate music. Miss Lulu Emparan will also sing, "Call Me Thine Own" as the bridal party leave the church.

The bride's wedding gown is a beautiful creation of white fleur de velour, made en train, with trimming of mousseline de soie and exquisite lace. A sheer tulle veil and orange blossoms will complete the handsome toilette. Her boquet will be lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss May Cummings of Santa Rosa, will wear a delicate lemon-colored organdy over pink taffetta. A Gainsborough picture hat will be worn with this pretty costume. Miss Cummings' boquet will be pink carnations.

Thos. Cummings, a brother of the groom, will be best man.

After the wedding party leave the church they will be driven to the home of the bride, where an elegant wedding breakfast will await them.

The bride's going away gown will be a stylish mode tailor made.

The young couple will leave in the afternoon on their wedding tour and will probably get along with congratulations more than their share of the horrid rice and old shoes.

Little Cupid is always good to Schellville station agents, and we heartily congratulate Mr. Cummings.

AN OLD LANDMARK.

Being Removed to Give Way to a Modern Edifice.

At last the old building on Adler's corner is being torn down to give place to a modern iron and stone business structure. This building is one of the most prominent old landmarks of Sonoma. Erected on Spain street in 1849, it was removed to the Adler corner in 1862, and in 1868 another story was added to the low structure.

For years the building, which was known as the Pioneer Saloon, was tenated by the late Ferdinand Grothaus, and in the early days all kinds of money flowed over the bar, which was liberally patronized by the prominent men of the valley, many of whom had money to burn in those days. Time went on apace, and in a few years Mr. Grothaus had amassed a neat little fortune. He then sold out to Jacob Aherns, went East, lost all his money in an unfortunate speculation and returned to Sonoma dead broke. About this time, it was in 1886, Aherns tragically committed suicide on a public street of the town by shooting himself through the head with a pistol. Mr. Grothaus then returned to the old stand to retrieve his lost fortune. In a few years, owing to a thorough knowledge of his business, he had regained all that he had lost, and a year or two before he died was reputed to be quite wealthy. When it came to settle up the estate, however, the widow was unable to trace her husband's savings and was left practically penniless. Some were inclined to the opinion that he had been systematically robbed during his declining years. Others held to the opinion that he had buried his money on the old landmark site. Just what became of Mr. Grothaus' latter fortune, and it surely ought to have amounted to $20,000, will probably never be known unless the demolition of the old building reveals the secret.

The main part of the edifice will be moved to the rear of the Adler corner and will occupy a frontage on First street East.

Church Entertainment.

A grand musical and literary entertainment will be given at Union Hall by the Catholic ladies of Sonoma, for the benefit of St. Francis' Church, on Saturday evening, April 19th, 1902. The program to be presented will be made up of the best local and San Francisco talent. The main feature of the entertainment will be an operetta entitled the "Cupboard Lovers," under the direction of Mr. J. C. O'Donnell of San Francisco. Prof. O'Donnell, the prince of amateur comedians, has organized a troupe composed of five characters for the occasion, and claims that the drama will furnish five laughs a minute. In addition to the operetta some of the performers will sing the latest and up-to date songs. The evening's entertainment will conclude with a social hop at which refreshments will be served. Those who attend will be assured a grand treat and an enjoyable evening. Admission to the hall will be fifty cents. *

Fruit Crop Promises Well

Everything points to a fine fruit crop in this valley this season. So far there has been no damage from frost or other causes and fruit trees of all kinds are loaded with young fruit.

The Noon Hour.

Many a hard working young woman spends her noon hour in an endeavor to get a little rest to carry her through the remaining hours of the day. She is weak and weary, but she cannot give up the occupation which supports her. She must go back to the office and the typewriter, to the store and its duties, with tiresome customers to wait on and exacting employers to please.

For people who are weak and run down there is no medicine so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Many diseases in organs remote from the stomach have their origin in a disordered condition of the stomach and its allied organs. When the stomach is "weak" there is a failure to properly digest and assimilate the food which is eaten. Hence the whole body, and each organ of it, suffers from lack of nutrition, so that as a consequence of "weak" stomach, there may be "weak" lungs, "weak heart, "weak" or torpid liver, "weak nerves, etc. By curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, "Golden Medical Discovery" enables the assimilation of the nutriment necessary for the requirements of a healthy body. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of blood which is the vital fluid of the body.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Sick and ailing people especially those suffering from disease in its chronic forms are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no similar offer of free medical advice which has behind it an institute of national note such as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., presided over by Dr. Pierce, its chief consulting physician, with the assistance of nearly a score of skilled specialists.

"The Wonderful Medicine."

"I must again send a few lines to you to let you know how I am getting along since taking the wonderful medicine which cured me two years ago," writes Miss Bertha Ebeler, of 1127 Benton Street, St. Louis, Mo. "I still continue in very good health and think there is not a better medicine on earth than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. We would not be without it in the house, and also the little 'Pellets.'

"I have recommended Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to many friends, and they think it will do just what is claimed for it. It is the best thing for nervousness and for a weak, run down condition that any body can want. I was very nervous and weak last summer. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it just made me feel like a new person. It gives a person new life and new blood. I can now work all day long without feeling the least bit tired. In fact I feel a new person.

"My mother was also cured by it of a very bad state of stomach trouble about three years ago. I thank you a thousand times for what you have done for me and for your kind advice."

Wasted to a Skeleton.

"About six years ago my health failed," Miss Alethea E. Greca, of Coopstown, Harford Co., Maryland. "I kept getting down lower and lower, until I could scarcely walk across the floor without struggling and gasping for breath. My home physician pronounced it general debility and catarrh of the throat, but although he did all he could, he failed to even relieve me. I tried various remedies, but all of no avail, and soon wasted away to a mere skeleton. At last I was persuaded to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., which I did immediately. After receiving his very kind advice I commenced use of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.' I took fourteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three of 'Favorite Prescription' and to-day I am a well woman. I do heartily thank God and Dr. Pierce for my good health."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent FREE on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in cloth binding, or 21 stamps for the paper covered volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A QUEER VESSEL.

Description of the Demologos, the World's First Steam Warship.

The credit for giving to the United States the honor for building the world's first steam warship belongs jointly to the inventor of the steamboat, Robert Fulton, and the president of the United States, James Madison. The launching, which attracted the attention of the civilized world, occurred at New York on Oct. 29, 1814.

Probably the best idea of the Demologos has been given by the commission which was intrusted by President Madison with her construction. They said: "She is a vessel resting upon two keels, separated from end to end by a canal 15 feet wide and 66 long. One section contains the caldrons of copper to prepare her steam. The vast cylinder of iron, with its piston, levers and wheels, occupied another part. The great water wheel revolved in the space between them. The main or gun deck supported her armament and was protected by a bulwark 4 feet 10 inches thick of solid timber. This was pierced by thirty portholes, to enable as many thirty-two pounders to fire redhot balls. Her upper or spar deck was plain, and she was propelled by her enginery alone."

The fate of the Demologos was a sad one, she being blown up in a mysterious manner while moored near the Brooklyn navy yard on June 4, 1829. In this frightful accident twenty-five persons were killed, one of them being a woman. The official reports do not throw much light upon the occurrence, but it is intimated that the explosion was the result of design.

Tired Eyes.

People speak about their eyes being tired, meaning that the retina or seeing portion of the eye is fatigued, but such is not the case, as the retina hardly ever gets tired. The fatigue is in the inner and outer muscles attached to the eyeball and the muscles of accommodation which surround the lens of the eye. When a near object is to be looked at, this muscle relaxes and allows the lens to thicken, increasing its refractive power. The inner and outer muscles are used in covering the eye on the object to be looked at, the inner one being especially used when a near object is looked at. It is in the three muscles mentioned that the fatigue is felt, and relief is secured temporarily by closing the eyes or gazing at far distant objects. The usual indication of strain is a redness of the rim of the eyelid, betokening a congested state of the inner surface, accompanied by some pain. Sometimes this weariness indicates the need of glasses rightly adapted to the person, and in other cases the true remedy is to massage the eye and its surroundings, so far as may be, with the hand in cold water.—Family Doctor.

Where Water Is Lacking.

The industrial growth of any country and its capacity for a high civilization depend in an eminent degree upon its agricultural development. Manufacturing and commercial interests may fluctuate, mines may become exhausted, but the progress of the seasons perpetually renews the productivity of the soil, and only the indolence of man or the perversity of government can impair this elementary source of wealth and power. The state, therefore, regards its agricultural resources with a jealous eye, and so long as these are dwarfed and stunted from natural causes it feels that it cannot reach the highest goal of prosperity and enlightenment. Of the 3,000,000 square miles, more or less, within the territorial limits of the United States, excluding Alaska and the islands, about 1,300,000, or 43 per cent, are not supplied by nature with sufficient rainfall during the summer season to sustain successful agriculture.—North American Review.

How an Elephant Eats.

An elephant's digestive functions are very rapid, and the animal therefore requires daily a large amount of fodder, 600 pounds at least. In its wild state the elephant feeds heartily, but wastefully. It is careful in selecting the few forest trees which it likes for their bark or foliage, but it will tear down branches and leave half of them untouched. It will strip off the bark from other trees and throw away a large portion.

As it is a nocturnal animal, it selects its trees by the senses of touch and smell. Its sense of smell is so delicate that a wild elephant can scent an enemy at a distance of 1,000 yards, and the nerves of its trunk are so sensitive that the smallest substance can be discovered and picked up by its tiny proboscis.

An elephant's palate is very delicate, and the animal is whimsical in selecting or rejecting morsels of food.

A VALUABLE MEDICINE.

For Coughs and Colds in Children.

"I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well-known watchmaker of Columbo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are as well pleased as myself over the results." For sale by F. Duhring. *

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

ARE YOU DEAF?

ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF

DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,

F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
